

Pro Combat Laser Tag Briefing & Rules

Thank you for playing Pro Combat Laser Tag. My name is _____ and I will be your referee for this game.

Please treat your tagger with respect when not playing. <DESCRIBE GAME> You fire your tagger by pulling the trigger. To tag another player, aim for the bubbles around their head. Head shots are the only shots that count.

To aim better, use the red dot scope on your tagger. <DEMONSTRATE HOW TO FIRE> In this game, you may be hit _____ times. The first times you're hit, you'll hear a grunt sound like someone hit you in the stomach. The last time you're hit, you will hear "Medic, Medic, man down". The lights on your sensor will stay red and you will no longer be able to fire your phaser.

This means you are out.

<IF RESPAWN GAME>

Once you're out a time will start on your tagger. Return to your team's base and wait for the timer to run out.

<IF ELIMINATION GAME>

Once you're out, lower your barrel and wait at your team's base.

You have limited ammo during the game. You have 40 rounds in each clip. When you hear a "click click" sound it's time to reload. To reload press the red button. While reloading, you cannot fire, but you can still be hit, so try to reload when you're behind cover.

Safety is first here with Pro Combat. No sprinting. Play under control at all times. I am the referee and I will decide what is out of control.

No physical contact. You may not touch any other player or their laser tagger.

You must always hold the gun firmly in both hands like this. Do not push, move or lean on any obstacle.

No blind firing. No firing at vehicles, train, plane or members of the public. You must always be able to see what you're shooting at and you must always be able to see the end of your barrel.

You must stay within the boundaries, you must not go any closer than 2 metres from the road and rail tracks.

You are not allowed to climb any trees.

We have a courtesy rule. If you are waiting to respawn, do not talk. Dead mean tell no tales.

You must always obey the referee.

If you are caught breaking any of these rules, we may be forced to remove you from the game and you will not be allowed to play again today.
